

Raising Children with Developmental Disabilities

“If you want to go quickly, go alone. If you want to go far, go together”

Panel

Moderators:

Christina Mulé, Ph.D., NCSP
Licensed Psychologist
Assistant Professor of
Pediatrics at UPMC

Lisa Latten, M.Ed.
Developmental Behavioral
Pediatrics Administrator
Parent to a young adult with ASD

Panelists:

Laura Silverman, Ph.D.
Licensed Psychologist
Associate Professor of
Pediatrics at UPMC

Mary Brzustowicz
Family Navigator, Developmental
Behavioral Pediatrics at UPMC
Parent to a young adult with ASD

Lynne Levato, Ph.D.
Licensed Psychologist
Associate Professor of
Pediatrics at UPMC

Rebecca Glogowski-Sabin
Parent to a young child with ASD

When you are new to the world of developmental disabilities and don't know where to start, how do you build partnerships and collaborations that are going to help families/you through this new journey?

In your experience, what partnerships seem most valuable at the time of diagnosis? And how do you see the partnerships evolving over time?

What are indicators of a successful/ideal partnership or collaboration?

What are indicators of a successful/ideal partnership or collaboration?

