

HEALTH CARE LEADERSHIP PROGRAM

Application Deadline: October 15, 2024

Designed for University of Rochester Medical Center physicians, and healthcare leaders with an advanced degree the Health Care Leadership Development Program (HCLDP) offers a unique opportunity to sharpen your business acumen and strengthen your health care management skills, without the commitment of a full graduate degree program.

The program's targeted curriculum is taught by Simon Business School faculty and is designed to yield maximum results while meeting the needs of a busy, healthcare leader audience. Split into four modules, the program focuses on various aspects of health care administration: leadership, finance, strategic management, and quality/performance improvement. Each module consists of one cohort-based weekend session, leveraging networking opportunities and interactive education; additional content is delivered through online asynchronous assignments.
