

Lauren Vatie
Incident Management Team, Team Rubicon

Lauren Vatie began volunteering with Team Rubicon following Hurricane Sandy in 2012 before becoming a member of the Incident Management Team after Hurricane Harvey in 2017 and an instructor with the Mobile Training Center. Lauren previously spent six years in the private sector in global corporate security in NYC. She worked at Bank of America as a Senior Intelligence Analyst monitoring security trends to minimize threats to the firm's employees, business and reputation. Prior to this, she worked as a Crisis Management Analyst at Goldman Sachs, where she monitored threats and supported the firm's ability to operate continuously from any business disruption. Lauren obtained her undergraduate and graduate degree from Saint John's University in Criminal Justice Leadership.
