

Patricia Mason, BA, BS
Emergency Preparedness Coordinator
Guthrie Corning Hospital/Guthrie Cortland Medical Center

Patricia Mason is a seasoned professional with a wealth of experience in emergency management, boasting a Bachelor of Arts (BA) and Bachelor of Science (BS) degrees. With a career spanning over three decades, she has honed her expertise in ensuring communities and organizations are well-prepared to handle crises effectively.

Currently serving as the Emergency Preparedness Coordinator for Guthrie Corning Hospital and Guthrie Cortland Medical Center, Patricia plays a pivotal role in safeguarding the safety and security of these vital healthcare facilities. Her responsibilities encompass developing and implementing comprehensive emergency response plans, conducting drills and exercises to test readiness, and collaborating with internal teams and external agencies to coordinate emergency response efforts seamlessly.

Patricia's dedication to emergency preparedness extends beyond her professional roles. She is deeply committed to fostering a culture of resilience within her community, advocating for proactive measures to mitigate risks and enhance response capabilities. Her extensive experience and proactive approach make her a trusted leader in the field of emergency management, ensuring that Guthrie Corning Hospital and Guthrie Cortland Medical Center remain steadfast in their commitment to providing exemplary care even in the face of adversity.