

Cultures in to the Future

The National Institutes of Health (NIH)

- The Human Genome Project

The Modern Language Association (MLA)

Source: Inside Deaf Culture
(Padden & Humphries, 2005)

What are we seeing the conflicts and contradictions of the 21st century?

= eradicate deafness
(disability)

= celebrate Deaf pride
(diversity)

Thorough exploration into our themes:

- Silence and the problem of voice
  - Of dominance and control in institutions
  - Of the struggle to shape the future of deaf children and adults

The background features a stylized, muted-toned illustration of a mountain range with a prominent peak on the right. In the foreground on the right side, there is a willow tree with long, drooping branches and small, dark, round leaves. The overall aesthetic is soft and textured, resembling watercolor or a light wash.

Authors Christiansen and Leigh (2002) described the current environment of cochlear implants
among Deaf people

“cultural genocide”

Ex. Sound and Fury

A balanced view now

Why?

What are linguistic risks?

So, can early intervention be beneficial? In what ways can it be prevented?

Then, what is sound educational policy?

Oddly, bilingualism for deaf children is not normal. What does it mean? (p.169)

The Human Genome Project (HGP)

The study and vision of genetics

Biomedical research = genetic deafness (more than 50%): ex.
Connexin 26

An understanding of hereditary genes:

Ethical, Legal and Social Implications

How does one decide what to do with the human value of having deaf children?

Parents
Doctors
Geneticists
Medical students

Can the Deaf Community make the decision for them?

Can they change the medical world? Why or why not?

The background features a textured, light-colored paper-like surface. In the upper right, there is a silhouette of a mountain range. On the right side, a willow tree with dark, drooping branches and small leaves is visible. The overall color palette is muted, consisting of various shades of beige, tan, and grey.

What do Deaf people want from the future?

What do you think?