Building a Research Scientist Pipeline at the Icahn School of Medicine at Mount Sinai

1. My project focused on building infrastructure for physician-scientist recruitment and retention, including submitting grants to support physician scientist programs, and research residents, as well as learning about and connect P-S pathway programs across the Medical School Departments at Mount Sinai. In addition, we identified gaps in our programs and opportunities to develop a new programs, including building a website specifically to help research residents.
